TC 7.9 Building Commissioning Frequently Asked Questions

Question: How do I get to the members-only area of the TC website?

Answer:

You access the members-only area with a userid and password that you must obtain from the TC 7.9 Webmaster. You must be either a voting or corresponding member of the TC to get them.

You will be prompted for that information any time you follow a link that leads into the members-only area. Examples would be the link at the top of the membership page that leads to "more contact information," or a link to a work statement, or a link to minutes that are not yet approved. You'll find, as you roam around the site, that most of the stuff is in the public area, so it may take you a while before you get asked for the userid and password. Once you've given them in any given session, you won't be asked again even if you pop in and out of the members-only area repeatedly.

If you want to go directly to the members-only area to see what things are there, you can go directly to this address:

<http://tc79.ashraetcs.org/members/index.html>

Of course, you'll be asked for the userid and password just as you would if you went there any other way.
